In partnership with families the service seeks to provide children with appropriate opportunities to learn, develop their potentials and live as citizens sharing their rights and responsibilities of their peers. Child and Family Services are based on the following values:

- Understanding and respecting your personal priorities
- Empowering you to make choices about supports that will respect your daily routines and needs for privacy
- Working together to main your natural connections, to family and community
- Assisting you to achieve success for your child based on your priorities one step at a time.
- Enable you to identify possible safety concerns unique to your child.
- Offer information that you might need to enable you to make the best possible choices, by helping you to be well informed about your rights.
- Work with families to enable your child to have the best possible health.

Respite & Residential Services for Children

Respite offers families the opportunity to have a rest from the daily challenges of caring by having the child stay away from home for a short period. During this time away, the child has an extended opportunity to interact socially with peers, develop independence and avail of local community resources.

Respite options can also include:

- Home respite whereby staffing is provided in the child's own home.
- Homesharing, where a family provide supports to the child in their home.

Respite options are discussed through the family social worker and children are introduced gradually to help them adapt to a new experience.

Respite homes are typical homes in local estates or neighbourhoods which enables children to be integrated and interact with other members of the community.

Shared Care

Western Care Association also offers a shared care option to a number of children who may require more frequent periods away from home.

Contact and involvement from family is valued as an important component of this arrangement and reflects our mission to work in partnership with parents.

Summer Schemes

Each summer children avail of local schemes in their own community and are supported by Western Care Association staff to enjoy opportunities and activities alongside their non-disabled peers.

In addition to this, we run a number of smaller schemes specifically for children with intellectual disabilities at various venues throughout the County.

The schemes offers a range of activities;- arts, crafts, sports, trips to local attractions, drama groups, team games etc.

They allow children to have meaningful and positive experiences and opportunities to learn through play, whilst affording the family a break.

SERVICES FOR CHILDREN AND THEIR FAMILIES WITH AUTISM SPECTRUM DISORDER (0-18 YEARS)

GENERAL DESCRIPTION

The Children's Autism Services exists to empower and support children and young people aged up to 18 years of age with Autism Spectrum Disorder, and their families, in Co. Mayo.

The service supports families with children of all abilities who have a diagnosis of ASD.

The Children's Autism Team strives to provide information and skills to families to empower them to provide required support for their child.

The service supports families and children to access appropriate opportunities to learn and develop their potential and to live as citizens enjoying the same rights and responsibilities as their peers.

We are working to achieve this through the provision of quality services, delivered in a family centered, individualized, innovative and flexible manner to provide comprehensive support to the children and their families.

We are committed to providing supports that facilitate and enable each family and child to work towards and achieve their unique personal goals

The Service is based on the following core values and beliefs:

- The families' priorities are what drives the focus of the team. The team will work on the priorities that are important to the family. It is the family that decides what the priorities are.
- The priorities of the whole family are important. We will support the family around priorities they have for their child as well as wider family goals that are important to the family.

- We believe that that the family is the primary source of learning for their child. We strive to provide families with the knowledge and skills that they need to enable their child to reach his/her potential.
- The team works in partnership with children and their families. We respect that parents are the experts about their child and that they may require some additional information about ASD in order to enable them to use this expertise effectively.
- We endeavor to enable parents to have access to balanced information to enable them to make informed decisions.
- We recognise the role of other services in supporting children with ASD, both within the Association and from other agencies, statutory and non-statutory and in particular the HSE and the Department of Education and Skills. We aim to work in partnership with them to offer quality provision to the children and their families.
- We believe that children, young people and their families require support to ensure that they have a voice and the team strives to promote this in our work with them.
- We are committed to enabling children and young people to become valued members of their community and recognize the importance of inclusion.
- The Service works to utilize and enable communities to accommodate and support differences in young people due to their autism. We endeavor to do this by facilitating change within community-based organisations and providing education about ASD within local communities.
- The Service recognizes the need for accountability, in particular for the quality of the services offered and the effectiveness of delivery. We believe that it is therefore essential to monitor and evaluate the effectiveness of the service.
- The service is committed to an evidence based approach to the understanding of autism and of interventions and is committed to developing in line with emerging research findings and will seek to contribute to this knowledge base through research and dissemination of our work and experiences.
- Team members bring a unique contribution through their individual experiences and knowledge, providing the resources to enable the Service to work within a multi-disciplinary framework. The Service is committed to the continuing professional development of its members.
- The team works with respect and empathy for children, young people and their families, being open and honest in relationships. Respecting and maintaining confidentiality is an integral aspect of the service.

Evaluation & Training Services

GENERAL DESCRIPTION

The Evaluation and Training Department performs an organisational support function.

The purpose of the Department is to support the development of organisational practice and learning in pursuit of person/family centered services so that people's priority outcomes are met.

The Evaluation and Training Department is responsible for leading the cyclical Accreditation process with The Council for Quality and Leadership for People with Disabilities (C.Q.L.) using the Personal Outcome Measures.

The Evaluation and Training Department facilitates organisational learning by coordinating the development of organisation policies, procedures and practices that promote Person/ Family Centered practice. Organisational policies and procedures are developed through a consultative process with key stakeholders.

The Evaluation and Training Department promotes Person / Family Centered practice for people using Association services through the development of staff awareness, knowledge and skills using a variety of training, learning and facilitation supports.

The department has an organisational learning function which facilitates the use of evidence based approaches for designing responsive services and promoting innovative models of support.

SERVICES PROVIDED

Services provided range from direct training inputs to facilitation of regional and local teams, supporting the design of policies and procedures, systems and processes, planning and service model design, evaluation and research. The Department also coordinates External Consultant facilitation on service delivery, service design and emerging models of best practice.

The Department provides administrative and logistical support to the programme of formal training and manages the training database and reporting process. Logistical and administrative supports to the organisation of Association Policies and Procedures is also provided directly by the Department.

Staff training is provided in Basic skills(Assurances), Specialised skills (Enhancements) including longitudinal Training programmes.

Basic Skills Training (Assurances)

Basic skills' training includes a practical knowledge of putting the values of Person /Family Centeredness into practice using the methodology of Personal Outcomes . Training in the development and implementation of Person Centered Planning is a foundation skill for direct services staff, clinicians and managers.

Basic skills' training also includes training that addresses the area of Assurances which is the foundation level within the Personal Outcome measures system. This training is focussed on enabling staff to put organisational policies and procedures into practice to assure the Rights, Health, Safety and Welfare of people using Association services. These basic skills events include first aid training, fire safety and prevention, protection of the person's welfare/preventing and addressing abuse, minimal handling, solid administration, managing diabetes, additional specialist training for people with specific medical conditions, managing challenging behaviours and basic I.T. skills. Training in these foundation areas aims to ensure that the value of individualised approaches is safeguarded and that staff cultivate an awareness of the requirements to balance safety issues with the protection of the person's rights.

Specialised Skills Training (Enhancements)

Specialised skills refer to more advanced learning in specific topics, or skills that may have particular relevance to a specific area of expertise or profession. Specialised skill development in direct services is connected to Outcomes for people receiving supports. For organisational support services such as Human Resources or I.T. services, the training is aligned to organisational priorities which are informed by the priorities of service users and identified through organisational planning processes.

Strategic organisational priorities are supported through this type of training. For example significant training in support of the outcome ' People Chose Work ' has been provided on the basis of the expressed priorities of service users. This training includes both training in Supported Employment and Systematic Instruction. Significant levels of training are also provided in the area of understanding the value of 'right relationships' and designing innovative approaches to living arrangements. This training initiative is also provided in response to the expressed priorities of service users.

Specialised areas include training in communication, Lamh signing, Irish Sign Language, the Derbyshire and Hannan communication approaches. Additional areas include autism, assistive technologies, behavioural strategies, clinical training for professionals, early intervention approaches, Parents Plus, Investigative training, suicide prevention, mental health, continuing professional development courses and higher order computer skills. Attendance at seminars, conferences and networking events is also supported. Specialised skills training may also include items which have specific relevance to particular outcomes for individuals or addresses people who present with complex challenges through bespoke training for the persons support network.

Building Internal Training Capacities

The Evaluation and Training Department is committed to building internal organisational learning capacity and promotes the development of internal staff trainers across a range of topics and areas. This includes a number of Train the Trainer programmes for organisational staff.

Currently Western Care staff provide the following range of training events directly within the association; Person/Family Centred Planning with the Outcome Measures, Protection and Welfare/Abuse Prevention, Understanding and Managing Challenging Behaviour, Minimal Handling, Stesolid Administration, Safe Administration of Medication, specific Communication Strategies ,Supported Employment and Systematic Instruction. The use of a wide range of internal staff trainers reflects the association's commitment to the development of our staff and to continually expanding our learning potential.

Procedures

Policies and Procedures may be developed in response to legislative or regulatory requirements arising in the external environment such as HIQA, Protection, and Employment law. Equally they may be developed in response to a request arising internally to provide guidance for practice in a particular area or topic. The Department is responsible for maintaining an overview of the status of organisation procedures. This refers to facilitating the development, review, updating and distribution of the collection of organisational procedures within the Procedural Framework .This Framework currently categorises procedures on the basis of whether they are primarily Service related or whether they are primarily H.R. /Finance related.

Department members may support the development of policies and procedures through direct participation in the drafting process as technical supports. Alternately they may perform an editorial function which seeks to ensure policies and procedures are consistent with the values of person/family centred practice , ensure congruence with other procedures ,address any duplication, contradiction or implication for existing procedures. The editorial function also encompasses the standardisation of formats, fonts, procedural coding etc required in the documentation design stage.

All policies and procedures are released through the single pathway operated by the Department. This means that the logistics of distribution, recall and documentation control are delivered through this pathway. The Evaluation and Training department are responsible for organising the release schedule for new or revised procedures in accordance with the priorities of the Senior management Team. The release schedule is designed to accommodate the capacity of organisation staff to absorb new or changed material in a meaningful way. The use of a single pathway for procedural distribution ensures that there is a stable organisational process and avoids the risk of ad hoc circulation of documents which have clear organisational importance.

In addition to the overall coordination and organisation of policies and procedures the Department arranges programmes of training relevant to key procedures. This training is typically addressed through the basic skills (assurances) type training. Where required, additional courses/briefings will be developed to support staff to understand and implement new or changed policies and procedures.

Supporting Projects and Innovations

The Evaluation and Training Department promotes innovation and best practice through support to a range of projects and strategic initiatives such as the development of Optimal Individual Service Designs, the Leonardo Conversion Project for Supported Employment, The Family Research Project. Department members are represented on Association committees and on a range of working groups including The Rights Review Committee, The Safety in all Environments Group and The Assistive Technology Project.

In addition to the above more in depth support in the values and application of Personal Outcome Measures are provided through building team capacity in the use of Person /Family Centred Planning , quality assured reliable scoring with the Outcome Measures , facilitating the use of evidence from multiple sources to develop solutions and empowering staff teams to create individualised strategies.

Service Evaluation

The Evaluation and Training Department coordinates the service evaluation function through the gathering of data through Personal Outcomes reviews. This data is used to inform organisational decision making on the basis of individually expressed priorities. The department also coordinates the external review and accreditation processes by the Council on Quality and Leadership which occurs at predetermined intervals.

Regulations, Standards and Inspections;

The Department has the role of co-ordinating supports to services in respect of the HIQA Regulations and Standards. This involves engagement in the process with HIQA through a variety of forms such as the NFVB Quality Subcommittee, providing information, interpretation and briefing to Association members, facilitating compliance with the Regulations and developing templates and tools to support organisational practice in meeting obligations. The department also co-ordinates training associated with HIQA requirements such as medication administration, food safety and nutrition etc.

Organisational learning

The role of the Evaluation and training Department intersects direct services and organisational support services. Department members are engaged across the full range of organisational practice, systems, processes and structures. In addition the evaluation function is naturally focussed on learning. The nature of the Departments functions creates opportunities to engage with feedback from people at all levels and also to access evidence through multiple sources of data. This type of engagement combined with evaluative and reflective practice creates conditions that support organisational learning. Improvement in the quality of organisational performance is supported by the intentional sharing of learning in both formal and informal ways. Department members are engaged in learning partnerships across a range of projects and initiatives which seek to deepen organisational capacity and strengthen performance.

Working with the External Environment

The Evaluation and Training Department has significant input to national bodies and is involved in organising and presenting at a range of groups and conferences nationally and internationally. Department membership of national bodies includes lead roles in the membership of the Quality committee of the Federation of Voluntary Bodies, membership of the Outcomes Network in Ireland, membership of the New Options Alliance and cross sectoral group membership involving the Federation of Voluntary Bodies, the Disability Federation of Ireland and the Not for Profit Business Association. In addition Department members are engaged on a variety of national working groups from time to time including those convened by the Department of Health and Children and the Health Service Executive. Department members are also engaged in attempting to inform and influence national policy in support of the values and practices of Person / Family Centeredness through engagement with groups and networks involved with regulatory and standards development bodies such as the Health Information Quality Authority.
